DAZ Studio Artist Licensing Information
<http://www.daz3d.com/>

DAZ Studio Licensing is much clearer now than it used to be. Here is the location where available licenses may be found.
<http://www.daz3d.com/catalogsearch/result/?q=License>

There are 2 types of licenses available. In either case the game development person/studio would need to purchase a license once the game goes on sale or when the art is embedded and distributed....like an Alpha or Beta playable game.

DAZ Game Licenses

Commercial Game Developer License $2,500

<http://www.daz3d.com/commercial-game-developer-license>

Game Developer License for Commercial Developers

(Developers with Personal or Business income of MORE than $100,000.00 annually. All discounts are not applicable to this item .)

Indie Game Developer License $500

<http://www.daz3d.com/indie-game-developer-license>

Game Developer License for Indie Developers

(Developers with Personal or Business income of LESS than $100,000.00 annually. All discounts are not applicable to this item .)

DAZ Professional Artist License (PA)

Will be a name of the PA in the title of the license. If there is no license shown on the license page then care must be taken to using these art assets in a commercial game or simply stay away from them entirely.

How to know Which License Applies?

When purchasing items from DAZ you will want to pay attention to the Artist Name from the store.

In this picture you will see 2 names. DAZ Originals and goldtassel

This particular art would fall under the DAZ Game Licenses because of the DAZ Originals artist name...goldtassel is most likely the original PA and has some agreement with DAZ to fall into the DAZ Originals.

There is a lot of content on DAZ that falls under DAZ Originals.
